Our safeguarding commitments

- We are committed to ensuring that our learning and knowledge exchange events are safe, supportive, and inclusive.
- We will be discussing GBV content, which can be difficult subject matter and participants are encouraged to practice self-care.
- Participants are required to engage with each other in ways that do not intimidate, threaten, harass, exploit, demean, or otherwise harm participants during our virtual and in-person events.
- If you experience harassment or other harm during this learning event, you can report the misconduct using one of the following mechanisms:
  - Email: Joy Cunningham, FHI 360, jcunningham@fhi360.org
  - FHI 360's Ethics and Compliance Hotline (either by using name or anonymously)
  - Email: compliance@fhi360.org

We have taken precautions, but there is always a risk of outside hackers during a Zoom session. It is unlikely, but if this does occur, we will immediately end/disconnect the session and send a follow-up email to all participants with next steps.
